Information on Teachers

Normal and Model School Student Records

Until the mid-1960s, teachers trained at normal and model schools; normal schools trained high school graduates to become teachers, while model were "practical schools" established in public schools for training purposes . Universities then took over responsibility for teacher training. The Archives has records of model and normal schools. Universities have records from the mid-1960s onward.

Normal and model school records have information on individuals studying to become teachers in Ontario. Model school records also contain information on children who were taught by student teachers. The following series contain student records from the normal and model schools:
