This guide will help you find and use census records at the Archives of Ontario. Censuses collect varied information on as many individuals and/or households as possible, making them useful sources for historical research. Since individuals will often appear in multiple censuses, you can compare census entries as a way of tracking changes in their life.

Starting in 1793, districts and municipalities in Upper Canada were mandated to conduct annual censuses. Colony-wide censuses were carried out in Canada West (current-day Ontario, south of the Muskoka and Haliburton areas) in 1842, 1851 to 1852 and 1861.

The federal government conducted a Canada-wide census every ten years from 1871 to 1951. Starting in 1956, they began conducting censuses every 5 years.

Please note: Census records after 1921 are not available to the public.

*Please note: this guide contains links to information found in our online Archives Information Management System (AIMS). On our website, this database is found under “Access Our Collections”. If you are using a print copy of this guide, go to page 5 for more information on how to find the online descriptions.

This guide also includes links to our Microfilm Interloan Catalogue. Click here to view our Microfilm Interloan Catalogue. On our website, this catalogue is found under “Access Our Collections”.

Where do I find these records?

Some of the records mentioned in this guide are on microfilm, and you do not need to order them in advance to view them in our reading room. Libraries that offer interloan services may also borrow most of the reels for you.

Some of the records are microfilm copies of records held by Library and Archives Canada. Those reels are not available through interloan. Those records are available online. The Library and Archives Canada website is www.collectionscanada.gc.ca.

Some records are not on microfilm. You will need to request them in advance to view them in our reading room. You may also obtain copies if there is sufficient information to locate and retrieve those records.

The Records

Pre to 1851 Census Records

Pre to 1851 census records often only contain statistical information with no names listed or list only the names of family heads of household. All censuses except for Talbot District are on self-service microfilm or microfiche, and you can access the microfilm in our Reading Room or through our Microfilm Interloan Service. Click here for more information about our Microfilm Interloan Service.

Early District and Township Censuses

The Archives of Ontario holds pre to 1851 Census records for the districts and townships listed in the table on the next page. Census records from district collections are further divided into individual townships. Most townships won't have census records for the entire date range. Click on the reference code for the collection in Table 1 below to access its online archival description. You can find more detailed listings of the records organized by township in the Finding Aid section of the online description.

*This record is an index of the 1848 and 1850 censuses for these districts. The Archives of Ontario holds some of the associated census records.

The Archives has microfilmed aggregate census and assessment returns for Upper Canada and Canada West, 1824 to 1850. They contain population statistics for all townships and municipalities, but no information about individuals. You can access these records in our Reading Room on self-serve microfilm reel MS 180. The returns can also be found in the Journals of the Legislative Assembly.

1842 Census of Canada West (Ontario)

You can access the 1842 census of Canada West (Ontario) in a searchable database on the Library and Archives Canada website. Click here to access the Library and Archives Canada Census of 1842, Canada West page.

We also have this census on microfilm. You can find microfilm listings in the binder Ontario Census Returns, 1842 to 1901 (available in the Reading Room).

Militia Muster Rolls

Militia muster rolls served as countywide or provincewide censuses of the adult male population. For more information on military records, click here to access Research Guide 226: Militia and Military Records.

Post to 1851 Census Returns

Censuses of Canada

Census records for the 1851, 1861, 1871, 1881, 1891, 1901, 1911, and 1921 censuses are available in searchable online databases on the Library and Archives Canada website. Click here to access the Library and Archives Canada census records page.

We have microfilm copies of the personal census returns for Ontario/Canada West for 1851 to 1852, 1861, 1871, 1881, 1891 and 1901 and the 1861 and 1871 agricultural census returns for Ontario/Canada West. The returns are arranged by county, then by town and township. We also have microfilm copies of the 1871 census returns for Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

We do not have a microfilmed copy of the 1911 and 1921 censuses.

You can find microfilm listings for post to 1851 census in the binder Ontario Census Returns, 1842 to 1901, which is available in the Reading Room's Genealogy Reference Area. This binder is an annotated abstract of Thomas A. Hillman's Catalogue of Census Returns on Microfilm, 1666 to 1891, which is available in most libraries.

The personal returns usually recorded a person's age, country of birth and origin, religion and occupation. The type and the amount of information vary from one census to another. The agricultural returns recorded the concession and lot, buildings and livestock owned by farmers.

Finding Aids for Post to 1851 Census Returns

The Toronto Census Aid (located in the Reading Room), lists the reels for the census returns of each Toronto ward and includes maps showing ward limits at the time of each census.
